

History & Hope Church Lecture Series

John Muether on the Orthodox Presbyterian Church

Introduction by Peter Lee

Join us on September 20 as church historian John Muether discusses the Orthodox Presbyterian Church's confession and character, history and hopes for the future. This lecture is a part of the RTS Washington 30th anniversary History & Hope Church Lecture Series. Local church members along with RTS students, alumni, and friends of the seminary are all welcome.

For three decades, RTS Washington has worked closely with multiple denominations to prepare their pastors and other church leaders in the mid-Atlantic region and beyond. The History & Hope series features lectures by leading representatives of the denominations RTS Washington most frequently serves.

To learn more about the series, visit www.rtsdcevents/historyandhope.

Friday, September 20, 7:00 p.m.
Grace Presbyterian Church, Vienna, VA

John Muether is Dean of Libraries and Professor of Church History at RTS Orlando. He has held regional and national leadership roles in the Orthodox Presbyterian Church, including serving as the denominational historian.

Peter Lee is Professor of Old Testament and Dean of Students at RTS Washington. He is an ordained minister in the Orthodox Presbyterian Church, serving as a church planter and member of various committees.

Register here:
<https://bit.ly/RTS-OPC>